About the Sponsor . . .

INDIANA RADIO CLUB COUNCIL, INCORPORATED

Organized in 1946 by a small group of Amateurs interested in promoting friendly cooperation among all Radio Clubs in the state, the Council adopted it's Constitution and By-laws in the year of 1947.

The object of the organization is to lend such aid as is possible in developing Amateur clubs along progressive lines; take general interest in all matters affecting or involving Amateur Radio; and to provide a means through which affiliated clubs might present a united front on matters of interest to them.

Another matter of importance in the activities of the Council is the promotion of contests, Hamfests, and other affairs designed to stimulate interest among it's member Clubs in fraternalism and operating interest. Most ambitious of it's projects is the Central Division Convention which you are attending here today.

One of the first State Councils in the country, its Constitution and form of operation have been widely adopted by many other Councils, and the IRCC stands ready to assist others in any manner possible and at any time.

The IRCC wishes to thank the various committees who have worked so hard for the past year in making this event possible, and to thank you for your attendance. It is my sincere wish that your visit has been enjoyable.
